STUDENT DEBATE ENDS IN CHAOS; CAMPAIGN ANTICS ON THE RISE

By Jon Minnen
News Editor

Temper flares as Juan Garibaldi (not pictured), FIST upper senate candidate, asks for an apology for alleged remarks made towards his sister, Sara Garibaldi. Ms. Garibaldi is the FIST presidential candidate. Sergeant Arthur Moore (center) separates the opposing factions during the post-debate incident. The debate was sponsored by The Ticker on April 29. (Photo/Dawis Rangaratnamakul)

No Punches Thrown—Quick Response From Security Cools Down Crowd

By Bryan Fleck
Managing Editor

An altercation occurred between Juan Garibaldi, a FIST candidate for the upper senate, and Joseph Maldarelli, a fraternity brother of PEACE presidential candidate Mark Heron, shortly after the candidates' debate ended Thursday night.

Mr. Garibaldi, the brother of FIST presidential candidate Sara Garibaldi, approached Maldarelli requesting an apology for an incident that happened a week prior to the debate. "There's verbal confrontation ensued between Maldarelli and Mr. and Ms. Garibaldi. Members of the Alpha Phi Delta fraternity and FIST candidates and supporters also participated, adding to the emotional tension. No punches were thrown, however, as security quickly cooled down the crowd. This altercation comes at a time when both the FIST party and the PEACE party have complained about each other's negative campaign tactics.

"People are acting like petulant children," said Gamma Phi Rho sorority president Jesse Berger. "This is college, not high school."

The altercation stems from an incident that happened on the evening of April 22 in the Gamma Phi Rho sorority room. On that night, approximately 200 people gathered to watch a debate between candidates for the upper senate. The debate was moderated by Jon Minnen and contained several heated exchanges.

High Schoolers Abound at Baruch Gym

By Jon Minnen
News Editor

If you thought it was hard to get into the Baruch gymnasium located on the sixth floor of the 23rd street building, just wait until next year. Things will get worse.

For several years, high school students have been roaming the halls of Baruch College as part of the Baruch College Campus High School. In this program, high school students have been roaming the halls of Baruch College, using many of the same facilities that college students use. This includes the gym.

As of right now, high school students use the gym Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Besides the high school students, the gym is also the site of college classes and practices for the various college teams during the sports seasons. Next year, plans call for high school students to receive even more time.

"Based on our limited facilities, we are restricted in terms of how much time can be shared with the college students and the high school," Dr. William Eng, athletic director, wrote in a statement to the Ticker. "Our priority is to provide as much time to our college students, first, and then we try to accommodate the needs of the high school."

The new plan calls for the high school students to get time Tuesday through Friday from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. in addition to the time they have now. This means even less time for college students to use the gym, who will be able to use the facility on Tuesdays and Thursdays, from 8:00 a.m. to 9:15 p.m., as well as during club hours and also on Fridays from 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.

"This does not take into account the fact that some Baruch College sports teams and clubs will need to use the gym for training. College students will see their time cut even more as this takes place. According to DSSG President Lennox Henry, the new plan is unfair to the college students who pay activity fees to use the gym. Professor Ray Rankis of the physical and health education department stated that the high school students do not pay fees to this school in the form of student activity fees. While adjustments have been made by all, the schedule for this coming year will be sufficient to meet all the needs of the college population," Eng further stated.

But students don't seem to agree.

One student who only gave his first name, Michael, said, "These high school students don't even belong here. This is Baruch College. Maybe they feel that they are giving me enough time to use the gym, but do they know my schedule? If I could choose from the times the high school uses the gym, I would actually be able to use the gym at least twice a week, and that's good enough for me."

Furthermore, when the high school works with Baruch to set up gym use schedules, "They make it hard to say no," Rankis says. "When I found out about it, I was not happy about it," he says of the new plan being instituted.

"It appears that the plan will move forward. As far as I know, it is set," Rankis stated. But that doesn't necessarily mean that it is set in stone. "If the president [Chrunohim] wants to change it, she can change it. She has that power."

Right now though, from what it looks like, college students will have to take a back seat. "First place are the classes, second place belongs to the teams and third place is for the high schools," Henry said. "We'll take fourth place to everyone else."
New Academic Advisement Center Holds Grand Opening

By Omolara Laniyan
Staff Writer

Students accustomed to using the 1st floor of the old building for most of their advising needs will no longer be able to do so, as of Tuesday. The new Academic Advisement Center, formerly located on the 12th floor of the old building, moved to its current location, the 1st floor of the new building.

"We will have the kind of center that will make the students feel good," stated President Lois Cronholm.

The Advancement Center, formerly located in the 23rd street building, moved to the 1st floor on April 26th. Before then, students were in the schools of Business, Public Affairs and Arts and Sciences seeking academic advising had to visit three separate locations.

One of the major reasons for moving the Center was to benefit the students. According to Cronholm, academic advisement has traditionally been a "sink" of chief complaints amongst students. Many have complained of not being able to get their questions answered and not being able to see advisors at convenient times.

The Center is open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday. The closing hours for Friday are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. If you have any questions, please call (212) 802-2505.

"Easing the burden of our students was one of the reasons for moving," Cronholm said.

The new center will do this by offering services to all three schools, as well as consolidating advising services for all three schools at one facility.

Evening Reception Held for Incoming Baruch Honor Students

By Allison Williams
Contributing Writer

On the evening of April 26, Baruch College played host to a reception in honor of incoming freshmen who have demonstrated outstanding academic achievement and who have either already been admitted or are considering attending Baruch.

All incoming freshmen who meet the qualifications for admission are automatically eligible to attend the reception. Those interested in attending, however, are urged to check with their respective Admissions Officers. Application to begin their Baruch career can be obtained at the Admissions Office.

The reception was held in the Center for Performing Arts, where quiet conversations and conversations about college life were to be heard.

Freshmen, Mark Benathan, spoke as a representative of the incoming freshmen. He said, "I am here because I am interested in the opportunities that are available to me here at Baruch College by joining them and that is to help prepare me for the future. I am here because I am not afraid to take on the problem of solving problems. If they claim they don't care, I will make my voice known in the meetings," he said.

"I refuse to see [Maldarelli] persecuted for anything the guy who is willing to drink and drive is going to drink and drive," said Witenko.

For example, both parties and Witenko have shown the initiative to become student representatives. According to Garibaldi, the college needs to coexist if candidates are chosen from each party.

Celebrate the opening of the Co-existence Day Calendar of events for Co-existence Week: Monday May 10:

Study Abroad Fair

Tuesday May 11:

Citizenship and Immigration Day

Wednesday May 12:

International Credit Day

Thursday May 13:

Co-existence Day

Baruch College International Student Services Center

Calendar of events for Co-existence Week:

Monday May 10:

Study Abroad Fair

Tuesday May 11:

Citizenship and Immigration Day

Wednesday May 12:

International Credit Day

Thursday May 13:

Co-existence Day

For more information please call the I.S.S.C. (212) 802-2505

Students at Baruch College are encouraged to participate in the "Parade of Nations" during the "Co-existence Day." The event will feature the flag opening, the flag raising in the Atrium, and a multicultural fair. Students and staff participants will also be introduced to "international students" and "international students" will be enabled to be included in the parade for one of several reasons.

South African students are the first to participate in the parade, followed by students from China and the United States.

"Co-existence Week is about celebrating and honoring our differences and similarities and bringing together different cultures," said President Lois Cronholm.

"It's only during the last ten years that I have come to understand the importance of education," she added. "I have come to understand that education is a means to an end, not an end in itself. It is a way to provide a better future."
Young Hispanic Leaders Speak

By Fred Low

Who are Prado-Alvarez Campos, Melendez X and Marta Lobo King? Those who have taken Spanish classes may know them, but many may actually know very little about these three women, some of the most powerful women in the New York area. They are tireless activists and leaders in the fight for social and political justice.

The women were invited to speak at the Conference on the Puerto Rican Identity: New Cultural Horizons, which was held on April 30 and May 1 at the Baruch College Campus Center. The conference was organized by the Puerto Rican Studies department and the Department of Fine and Performing Arts, and was co-sponsored by the Puerto Rican Student Association and the Center for Coexistence.

The conference was designed to educate students about issues regarding the Puerto Rican identity, and to encourage awareness of the importance of diversity at Baruch. "We want to make students aware of the need to understand and accept cultural differences," said Lois Cronholm, dean of Faculty and Staff Development.

"Diversity is an advantage to be celebrated, not a problem to be solved." -Interim President Lois Cronholm

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

Barron will look toward Coexistence Day the day after the conference. Barron has been talking about the idea of Coexistence Day for some time, and is hoping that the idea will catch on with students and faculty.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.

"I think it's important to have a day dedicated to the idea of coexistence," said Barron. "I think it's something that we should all be working towards, and I think it's something that we should all be thinking about.
It Was 40 Years Ago Today...

By Shan-san Wu

Editor

Bernard Marcus Baruch was one of the greatest financiers of his time, and one of the most respected of his profession, in his lifetime. In 1978, he died at the age of 88, leaving behind a legacy that enriched the lives of countless people. Baruch was a man who believed in hard work, dedication, and the power of education. He was a pioneer in the field of finance, and his legacy continues to inspire and influence people today.

Baruch's life began in poverty, but his determination and intelligence led him to success. He was born in New York City in 1870, the son of Russian-Jewish immigrants. His family was poor, and Baruch had to work hard to support himself. He was a student at City College of New York, and later went on to study law.

Baruch's career took off when he joined the Wall Street Investment Banking Office in 1904. He became a star at the firm, and was soon recognized as one of the greatest financiers of his time. He was known for his shrewdness and his quick mind, and he was able to make a fortune for himself and his clients.

Baruch was a man of many talents, and he devoted the rest of his life to public service. He became a cabinet member in the administrations of Presidents Coolidge, Hoover, and F.D.R., and he served as an advisor to the United Nations. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he founded the Baruch College in 1935.

Baruch was a man of great integrity, and he was known for his honesty and his commitment to ethical behavior. He was a man who believed in doing the right thing, even when it was difficult. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he was a man who believed in the power of hard work.

Baruch's legacy continues to inspire people today. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he was a man who believed in the power of hard work. He was a man who believed in doing the right thing, even when it was difficult. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he was a man who believed in the power of hard work.

Baruch was a man of many talents, and he devoted the rest of his life to public service. He became a cabinet member in the administrations of Presidents Coolidge, Hoover, and F.D.R., and he served as an advisor to the United Nations. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he founded the Baruch College in 1935.

Baruch was a man of great integrity, and he was known for his honesty and his commitment to ethical behavior. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he was a man who believed in the power of hard work.

Baruch's legacy continues to inspire people today. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he was a man who believed in the power of hard work. He was a man who believed in doing the right thing, even when it was difficult. He was a man who believed in the power of education, and he was a man who believed in the power of hard work.
CASH for your BOOKS
It's Buyback time, and your textbooks have their highest resale value.

105 Fifth Avenue at 18th Street:
STORE HOURS
M-F: 9:30am - 7:45pm.
S: 9:30am - 6:15pm.
S: 11:00am - 5:45pm.

TICKER NEWS MAY 5, 1999
8

TICKER FEATURES MAY 5, 1999

Morality? Don’t Make Me Laugh
The Only Winner In The Balkans: The Arms Trade
By John Pilger
Contribution Editor

The struggle of people against power, wrote Mikhail Bakunin, was “the struggle of humanity against oppression.” The idea that the NATO bombing was to do with “humanitarian motives” (as the US Secretary of State made it sound) is a delusion.

Vegreville, a town in Alberta, Canada, rose from nothing in a short space of time on the back of the oil industry.

The rise of NATO in the United States since the end of the Cold War has been rapid. In 1990, almost 6 million workers, almost a quarter of the workforce, worked in the defence related industries. Since then, this number has grown to over 7 million. The American arms industry is now the largest in the world, and the US is the world’s dominant arms exporters, exporting more than $10 billion worth of arms and military equipment each year. NATO is a very significant player in this industry, accounting for a significant proportion of the total.

The US arms industry is a massive enterprise, with over 1,000 companies involved in the production of military equipment. This industry is a major employer, and provides a significant source of income for the US government. The arms industry is also a major source of political influence, with powerful lobbying groups representing the interests of the arms industry in the US Congress. The arms industry is a significant contributor to the US political campaigns, with the industry providing financial support to political candidates and political parties.

NATO’s involvement in the arms trade is significant, as the alliance is a major player in the global arms market. NATO countries are major arms exporters, with the US and the UK being the largest arms exporters in the world. NATO countries are also significant buyers of arms, with the alliance being a major customer for the arms industry.

The arms trade is a major source of revenue for the US government, with the arms industry providing a significant source of income for the government. The arms industry is also a major source of political influence, with powerful lobbying groups representing the interests of the arms industry in the US Congress. The arms industry is a significant contributor to the US political campaigns, with the industry providing financial support to political candidates and political parties.

NATO’s involvement in the arms trade is significant, as the alliance is a major player in the global arms market. NATO countries are major arms exporters, with the US and the UK being the largest arms exporters in the world. NATO countries are also significant buyers of arms, with the alliance being a major customer for the arms industry.

The arms trade is a major source of revenue for the US government, with the arms industry providing a significant source of income for the government. The arms industry is also a major source of political influence, with powerful lobbying groups representing the interests of the arms industry in the US Congress. The arms industry is a significant contributor to the US political campaigns, with the industry providing financial support to political candidates and political parties.
None of the Above: Adolescent Antics and Apathy Must Stop

I would hope that the desire to head a government would be mutually exclusive from the urge to act like a big-and-bad 7th grader. Unfortunately, this has proven not to be the case for members of both the FIST and PEACE parties. This year’s campaign has been plagued by everything from party members tearing down each other’s flyers to complaints from security for interfering with students using the elevators in the 23rd Street building during election time. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks.

That either of these parties feels they should now be rewarded with election to office should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish heckling and angry personal attacks. These shenanigans were epitomized by Thursday’s USG election debate, where what should have been a dignified exercise in political sparring was reduced to childish hell...
Applications must be submitted to the Office of the Dean of Students. Applicants must currently be enrolled for a minimum of six undergraduate or graduate students and possess a minimum cumulative grade point average between 24 and 96 credits as an undergraduate or 1999 semester.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.

Bizz Briefs

Roth IRA! What's it in for You?

By Debra Gornke

Business

The key to these returns is the power of compound interest. Assuming she earns 15 percent per year. Take Rivka Gordon, for example, a 19-year-old student at a New York based trust company, and contributed $1,000 to her Roth IRA account currently with Charles Schwab, a discount brokerage, and contributed $1,200.

What does this have to do with the college of insurance in New York? Gordon opened her Roth IRA account recently with Charles Schwab, a discount broker, and contributed $1,200. She is 19 years old, so she has 40 years or so to enjoy the tax-free earnings on her investment. With the Roth, plus the IRA, she’s the one who’s earning, she gets a percentage of her earnings on her money, the money does the work. Gordon decided to open a Roth IRA early and soon after she opened it. If you’re young and earn money, when you start saving now, it’s easier.

$1,000 competitive academic scholarship for the fall semester. CUNY's University Student Senate is providing the Collegiate Merit Awards. An application packet can be secured from the Office of Student Affairs. For more information, please call 1102.221.9000.
The Citizens Committee for New York

Exhibits:
7th Floor Conf. Ctr. / E. 25th St.
International Student Center
Weissman Center for International Business

© 1999 usa grafx
The Prayer Cycle

By KIKO

The Prayer Cycle

When I first plugged up this CD, I recognized a very unique voice. And I was like NOW WAY! This is so refreshing. I love this CD! Theres a very near distinctive...through any bands or artists I have listened to before. In my eyes, this CD is so mesmerizing and I cannot express how much I love this CD. As you can imagine, I have listened to it many times and the more I listen, the more I appreciate it. It's really beautiful music to listen to. I can’t imagine if I had the chance to have this CD in my personal collection. I really urge you to listen to it and I am sure you will love it.

By KIKO

You know who I am and I will try to do my best. I have always been fascinated with music and I really enjoy playing it. I believe that music has a power to heal and to bring people together. I hope you enjoy listening to it.

The Prayer Cycle

John McCusker

The Prayer Cycle

My name is John McCusker and I would like to introduce you to a very unique and talented artist. I first heard of him when I was attending a concert and he was performing his guitar skills. I was really impressed with his talent and I decided to find out more about him. I found out that he is currently touring the country and performing at various venues. He is really gaining popularity and I believe he is going to be a star in the future.

John McCusker

The Prayer Cycle

I think you take out the security guard on the bus. (Just as the battle spilled onto 23rd Street, Janka and!vorean's combined light blast confused the tire lines.

The Prayer Cycle

Robynn:

Now the only problem is how do we get the chip off of Y3K's freaking chest?!

The Prayer Cycle

Norean: Oh thank gawd, you came back to life! I'll never...

The Prayer Cycle

As a result of the race wars, there were a lot of things that came out of them. The most obvious was the government's attempt to control the entire world. This was achieved through the use of technology and manipulation. With the rise of the megacorps, there was a shift in the balance of power. The megacorps became the new ruling class and the government was forced to yield to their demands.

The Prayer Cycle

KimTalk:: I think you ought to graze on the other side of the grass as well, could be fun.

The Prayer Cycle

The Prayer Cycle

I was shocked to find out it was 2:30 am (exactly twelve hours since our departure

The Prayer Cycle

I want to share with you my experience of visiting India. I was there for two weeks and it was an incredible journey. I had the opportunity to explore many different parts of the country and to meet many interesting people.

The Prayer Cycle

I was very glad to see that the Ghospal Canton didn't appreciate Wu's up-tempo and Nor did she appreciate mine. No.

The Prayer Cycle

I think you ought to graze on the other side of the grass as well, could be fun.

The Prayer Cycle

I want to share with you my experience of visiting India. I was there for two weeks and it was an incredible journey. I had the opportunity to explore many different parts of the country and to meet many interesting people.

The Prayer Cycle

I was very glad to see that the Ghospal Canton didn't appreciate Wu's up-tempo and Nor did she appreciate mine. No.
Blood, guts and gun blazing. It has a higher body count in a single frame than most shoot-'em-up movies.直译

Target, Face/Off and Replacement Killers are among his stateside directorial and production credits. He is well versed in the art of gun-fu, and sitting on an arsenal of weapons in the basement, can Tequila come out on top without having to swallow a worm? Watch as

May 14 @ 11 PM - NIGHTINGALE on the corner of 13th St & 2nd Ave.

By Jon Minners

Most of the stories that see print are about four words. "This movie was good." someone writing so bad. Sure, makes me think, "What the hell is this?"

Jumpin' Alex

Please sign up for translations and only three poems on it. Damn, now there is no reason to read this section anymore.

By David Blows

Take the Soapbox! Let us know what you think!

Jumpin' Alex & Hilda will be playing...

May 6 @ 11 PM - DOWNTIME on 251 30th St. bet. 7th & 8th Ave.

Hard Boiled

By David Blows

Editor

By David Blows

Jumpin' Alex & Hilda

The Mad Squad

By David Lo

Let's try to recall a few television series that made a smooth, natural transition to the silver screen. Batman was a smash hit in 1966. Mission Impossible was another excellent series, but it is only doing favor with audiences since now Tom Cruise. Do you still remember when the Saturday Night Live and Police Academy series are in your house? Most of the shows had a real connection with those two cities. New York is homebase, capital of the east coast, and Los Angeles the west coast. That's why we have to be tolerant of each other.

Take the Soapbox! Let us know what you think!

As Jumpin' Alex & Hilda have watched too many of those shows, they have managed to get a good connection with those two cities.

P.J. Olsom

This is Halloween and the bartender thinks they have the best costume in the whole street. The very idea of them even attempting to be run is so talented, that he should still have taken on the role and not have acted like a clown. The chances of having a star shine is a meager lout of 10.

Jumpin' Alex & Hilda

Take the Soapbox! Let us know what you think!

JUMP IN THE LAKE THE TIMES SQUARE MAY 5, 1999

Together

Missing each other so much.

Yearning for each other.

But the most we miss is the passionate kiss.

We embrace

With smiles on our faces.

We hold each other

Until forever

SilverRay (SilverRay@yahoo.com)

="""

If I could be the glass from which you drink

How delightful it would be to have your lips pressed against the hard surface of my shell.

You would begin with a searing, ice cold, then a sudden thrust of something powerful...

...yet... inviting, filling every crevice of my soft brea

I would feel the tip of your tongue against my mouth pulling, sending my cons...

to the back of your throat

You hold me gently and sometimes siped you would pour

Moisten your fingers with the juice that has formed on my outside

There are times when you would dip your finger inside to mix what I hold and instantly, I wished that fire because then your lips would wrap around me sucking off what little had accumulated

On hot days I have the pleasure of being pressed against your neck and forehead. I savor the sensation that gliding across your smooth skin gives as I leave my cooling juices behind

After all your liquid has been imbued you would scoop out the ice, wetting my canal in the process.

As you turn me upside down to coerce the last cube by tapping gently on my

we won’t give each other

EVERYTHING we’re together.

TICKER ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT MAY 5, 1999

ROADS AND WAVES

The Tides Surfer

soft and wavy, like strands of grass-

er blower in the wind, it is a tiny trickling of emotion pouring out from within the innermost expenses of my being with every hour of every day, it churns inside of me, building...

-KEITH CANNON

TICKER ARTS & ENTERTAINMENT MAY 5, 1999

ROADS AND WAVES

The Tides Surfer

soft and wavy, like strands of grass-blower in the wind, it is a tiny trickling of emotion pouring out from within the innermost expenses of my being with every hour of every day, it churns inside of me, building...
Baruch Tennis Team Forfeits Another Match

By Kenyatta Pious
Sports Editor

The Baruch tennis team had to forfeit another contest on Monday. The team only had two players present!! The tennis team is now in last place with a 2-6 record. The team must somehow rally its troops as it is about to play in the CUNY tennis tournament this Friday and Saturday.

It is not altogether clear how good the team is since it consistently has had a problem with maintaining the numbers. Part of the reason that coach Florin Giurgiuca has not been able to keep consistent numbers has been that he is coaching at least six seniors. In other words, the seniors have had to miss a lot of matches because of job interviews.

It is something that has been said over and over: playing a sport in a commuter school is one of the most difficult things to do. Not only are players pressed to excel in school, but they must go to practices and attend games. There is, sometimes, hardly a chance to socialise. With tennis, it is particularly more difficult because it is one of those games that is played later in the academic year. While most students are thinking only about taking tests, these scholar-athletes are juggling different lifestyles into one.

Most seniors go on interviews later in the academic year which often means that the other teams like basketball are not as affected. For instance, two seniors on the tennis team will miss the first match on Friday because one will be in Boston and another will be in Baltimore on interviews. Hopefully, the tennis team will not be eliminated that day.

Another problem is that there is not enough support from the student body. Baruch is expanding its facilities and maybe this will bring the level of school pride up to a respectable level. A student remarked the other day about why the teams at Baruch do poorly. First thought: the teams do not collectively do their homework. This year, for instance, the basketball team had the best record in school history! Secondly, it is this editor’s opinion that those who are quick to lash out at the team’s should take special initiative to repair whatever problem they see. There are always coaches who want more players to participate. Lastly, while this may sound like an excuse it is really in no way is it.

We wish the tennis team success in the tournament and thank the seniors for their contributions this year. The CUNY tournament will be played at the National Tennis Center in Flushing. For all details, contact Ralph Siriani at (212) 387-1274 or go to the 23rd street building on the seventh floor.

Intramural Beat

Women’s Softball Update

By Kenyatta Pious
Sports Editor

In issue six of The Tickler, it was reported that the women’s softball team was looking for some talent, and that the team might play a few games this year. The softball team is a club team, meaning that it is not officially recognized into the CUNY athletic conference. It is the hope that the team is recognized as an official team next year.

According to Dr. Eng, Baruch’s Athletic Director, it does not appear likely that the softball team will be receiving much money because right now, the CUNY teams are having their championship tournament. Usually most teams do not play after the CUNY tournament, until the following year. Dr. Eng added that if a team does wish to play, then the softball team will play.

When queried about the chances of the softball team being an official CUNY team next year, Dr. Eng remarked that the probability is very high. CUNY wants to have an extra softball team. One of the only problems that there have been many young ladies who have expressed interest, but it has not been the same number each week. Different ladies come to practice each week.

Dr. Eng has also been trying to add a women’s soccer team, but that has not been as successful since the interest has been very sporadic. There really have not been enough people who expressed interest to play the sport. Under the current conditions, it will be very difficult to make the soccer team a reality by next fall.

Unlike the women’s soccer team, the softball team is a spring sport, so that gives Baruch ample time to recruit potential players. Hopefully, the softball team will get a chance to play a game before next season. For all those young ladies that are interested in either soccer or softball, please contact Felicia Fischetti or Ralph Siriani at the 23rd street building on the seventh floor.

Baruch Women’s Softball Update

By Kenyatta Pious
Sports Editor

In issue six of The Tickler, it was reported that the women’s softball team was looking for some talent, and that the team might play a few games this year. The softball team is a club team, meaning that it is not officially recognized into the CUNY athletic conference. It is the hope that the team is recognized as an official team next year.

According to Dr. Eng, Baruch’s Athletic Director, it does not appear likely that the softball team will be receiving much money because right now, the CUNY teams are having their championship tournament. Usually most teams do not play after the CUNY tournament, until the following year. Dr. Eng added that if a team does wish to play, then the softball team will play.

When queried about the chances of the softball team being an official CUNY team next year, Dr. Eng remarked that the probability is very high. CUNY wants to have an extra softball team. One of the only problems that there have been many young ladies who have expressed interest, but it has not been the same number each week. Different ladies come to practice each week.

Dr. Eng has also been trying to add a women’s soccer team, but that has not been as successful since the interest has been very sporadic. There really have not been enough people who expressed interest to play the sport. Under the current conditions, it will be very difficult to make the soccer team a reality by next fall.

Unlike the women’s soccer team, the softball team is a spring sport, so that gives Baruch ample time to recruit potential players. Hopefully, the softball team will get a chance to play a game before next season. For all those young ladies that are interested in either soccer or softball, please contact Felicia Fischetti or Ralph Siriani at the 23rd street building on the seventh floor.

I am probably the happiest person alive. The soccer season is in full effect and I can’t wait to see where the Metrostars go this year. Maybe they will win it all. I can’t wait to go to the ticker-tape parade. Nothing like honoring a bunch of soccer heroes. Oh wait, soccer sucks.

The Yankees are on a tear and so are the Mets. Roger Clemens has been put on the 15-day disabled list. The Yankees are going to win 15 games in a row now, sure. The Mets are going to make the playoffs. Remember this, Jen has spoken. When Jon speaks, you know what means.

Speaking of absolutely nothing, whatever happened to the Bulls? Next year, they will be a team to look out for. They will have a top pick in the draft, and they will have the ability to sign some major talent. The Bulls may be out this year, but that’s probably how they want it.

The Knicks on the other hand are clinging to playoff hopes. They’ll make it and then they’ll take the first round, only to lose real bad in the second round. History always repeats itself, again and again and again.

Today, history repeats itself once more. I proved it in my security and Columbine editorials and every week, I lay the sports industry out. Who’s next? Later...

Hey Sports Crazy Baruchians, write for Ticker Sports today!

E-mail Kenyatta Pious at tickersports@ascu.baruch.cuny.edu

By Jon Minners
News Editor

Hey yo! I’m back and still laying the smack down on the sports industry. They thought going weekly would shut me up, but I’m stronger and better than ever before.

I was reading the Daily News yesterday, and I saw the 125th Kentucky Derby on the first page of the sports section. Why? All this hoopla for an event that lasts about two minutes. Does anyone care who wins? Does anyone remember who did?

What is happening to our society again? Anyways, is it just me or is the hockey playoff season just a wee bit too long? I mean the first round of the playoffs lasts about a month. So much work for a very forgettable season. At least the Devils are going to win it.

Leonard Mitchell passing over a defender. Mitchell plays for team ‘No Mercy,’ which many say has poor chemistry. (Baruch Press)